By using the emutel™ product range you can easily emulate various countries protocols and also differnt interface types. Perhaps you are attending a show in a particular country, however would like to emulate the TDM network from another country. Using the emutel™ products then this can easily be achieved.

Interfaces supported include:

- ▶ POTS
- ▶ BRI U
- ▶ BRI S
- ▶ PRI E1
- ▶ PRI T1

Protocols supported include:

- ▶ ITU (previously CCITT)
- ▶ ETSI (Europe and most of Asia)
- ▶ Bellcore National (N.America)
- ▶ AT&T 5ESS (N.America)
- ▶ Nortel DMS100 (N.America)
- ▶ NTT (Japan)
- ▶ 1TR6 (old Germany)
- ▶ VN3 (old France)
- ▶ BTNR191 (old UK)

This wide range of interfaces and protocol support means that one piece of equipment can be used to emulate networks in many different countries. Also by bringing your own TDM network with you to the exhibition means that you are no longer relying on the local service provider supplying the real lines correctly and on time.

As the emutel™ products are essentially operating as a private network (i.e. calls between its own ports), then there will be no risk of calls coming in from external areas and affecting the demonstration. Also, as this is a private network, the there will be no costs on any of the calls made.
